Hole Troops Launch Counter Offensive

JANESVILLE DAY IS GREATEST IN HISTORY OF FAIR ATTENDANCE ESTIMATED AT 12,000 TO 15,000—OFFICIALS ARE WELL PLEASED.

OPEN TONIGHT Exhibits, Shows and Concessions Will Run Full Blast This Evening—Rain Falls to Hurt Tomorrow's Turnout.

A heavy rain failed to dampen the spirits of the thousands of farmers who thronged the fair grounds today. The day was set aside for the Rock County Farm Bureau. Tomorrow will be the day of the fair. During the shower, the fair grounds were in a state of confusion. A house of cards from one house to another. People in starched white dresses were drenched, and the white dresses were mud-spattered. But no amount of rain could injure their spirits.

The gate receipts yesterday, equaled those of any day in the history of the Janesville fair, according to Secretary Harry Nowlin who predicts almost as large an attendance for today and tomorrow since the gates will be open in the evening of both days.

Estimate 15,000 Crowd. Fair officials, in celebrating yesterday the greatest in the history of Janesville fairs. The crowd was estimated at from 12,000 to 15,000. One old concessioner who has been making fairs for 25 years estimated 15,000. Some gave higher figures. The ideal weather helped materially in making yesterday's attendance so big.

Tomorrow will be the last day. But because of a general demand, the fair will be open tonight, and Friday night. All the grounds, the stands, the different houses have been visited and made ready for both evenings.

Farmers Take Holiday. Many of the farmers have come planning to take a day of the fair. In many cases, threshing and other farm duties have been postponed so they can take advantage of the day. The fair has been set aside for them. Special programs and entertainments have been arranged. More free exhibitions have been added, speakers provided and demonstrations arranged.

At 11 o'clock this morning, Professor Lampman of the University of Wisconsin gave a lecture on the demonstration on a platform. The tent was crowded with enthusiastic farmers as Prof. Lampman spoke.

Glover Gives Talk. A. J. Glover, editor of Hoard's Dairyman, spoke before the grand stand in the afternoon. In his address he emphasized the importance of the fair to the dairy industry. He said that the fair was a great opportunity for the dairy farmer to see the latest in dairy equipment and to hear the latest in dairy science.

The Three Kissing Kays consisting of one woman and two men, thrilled the audience with their acrobatic and aerial stunts. Their perilous flights in mid-air, comprising the single, twisting, and one-half double, and triple somersaults were followed by a series of unusual stunts.

The wizard piano accompanist delighted the thousands who filled the grandstand and the race track. The piano player, who was a native of the state, drew a tumult of applause with their versatile acrobatics. Pretty and gracefully athletic, these gliding madcaps, series of careless, dashing madcaps.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, Aug. 12.—Great Britain has been officially notified of the recognition by France of the government of General Baron Wrangle, as the de facto government of South Russia and the question is being discussed between the two governments. Meanwhile King George, who was to leave for Scotland tomorrow, has postponed his trip, owing to the situation. The announcement of the recognition by France of Baron Wrangle as the de facto government in South Russia has stirred up a big sensation in the press. Most of the morning newspapers comment guardedly upon the event, although they do not conceal their disapproval of the step.

Women soldiers are hurrying from place to place acting as couriers, and French military officers are showing great activity.

The scope of the appeal, according to the archbishop, is "the limits of the christian churches of the world."

The bishops' summons all the churches to a common church but for a truly catholic church of the future, to which every church should bring its own contribution of gifts and of men.

No loose federation of independent churches is contemplated, but rather a real organic unity based on common aims and purposes, for groups with their own outlook and for methods such as John Wesley originally contemplated.

McGraw Linked to Actor's Death. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Aug. 12.—John C. Slavin, musical comedy actor, was injured after a scuffle early Sunday morning when John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, resented his attempt and that of "Fiddler" Liggert, a former naval officer, to escort him to his apartment.

Assistant District Attorney P. Francis Marro was told today by William Meagan, the taxi driver who took McGraw's home after the baseball man's fight with a member of the Lambs club.

Was Under the Weather. McGraw, Meagan declared, was "under the weather," and resented Slavin and Liggert's determination to see him home.

Meagan said he noticed McGraw's condition when he picked the three up at the club. They were quiet, he said, during the ride.

Arrived at McGraw's doorstep, Meagan told the prosecutor Liggert got out first and then helped McGraw, who said the taxi driver was on the sidewalk, an argument started.

"I don't want anyone to go with me. I'll go myself," McGraw protested.

Knocks Both Down. Then, Meagan said, McGraw gave Liggert a push and he fell, his body falling on the sidewalk. McGraw then taxicab and partly on the sidewalk. A moment later he heard a "thump" and saw McGraw walk into the vestibule of the hotel.

Slavin had fallen to the sidewalk and was lying unconscious, near Liggert, Meagan said.

ELLIS ISLAND PUTS SPEED IN WELCOME

New Immigration Commissioner Goes Through Red Tape of New Arrival.

New York.—The slogan of Ellis Island immigration officials hereafter is to be "Speed." This decision was recently announced by Frederick A. Wallis, newly appointed commissioner of immigration, after he had passed the role of an immigrant for one night and had passed long and tiresome hours on the island waiting for a badge for New York.

Wallis, who is being welcomed by the immigration officials after they have been waiting for him for some time, is expected to make his headquarters at the immigration office at the island, and that other reforms are urgently needed that he intends to move to the island from his New York home and devote both days and nights to his new work.

Officials of the island, according to Mr. Wallis, are adhering to the theory that the immigrant's time is worth nothing at all.

"I am trying," Mr. Wallis said, "to break up the bad habit of detaining immigrants on Ellis Island after they have been admitted to the country. Ever since I took up my duties I have noticed great flocks of weary immigrants sitting in the crowded railroad rooms of the island. I have found immigrants sitting in these rooms who had been waiting all day long for their baggage to be called by our inspectors early in the morning."

"Last night I became an 'immigrant' myself and took my place on one of the benches in the railroad room. It was a long time before an attendant came to take up my baggage and come to take up a group that was going to Weehawken to take a train and some of them told me they had spent a long and tiresome day in the crowded rooms."

In the work of getting the immigrant through and out of New York quickly, Commissioner Wallis will enlist the aid of the railroad companies.

"Immigration," he explained, "no longer pours itself out into New York City, or into the crowded metropolitan area of the East. It now flows out across this big country to smaller towns, to the mines or to the farms. It is highly important that the immigration service and those working with us—the railroad people, for example—to recognize this increasing tendency and make good an impression as possible on the incoming workers."

BELOIT'S OLDEST CITIZEN, AGED 98, CALLED BY DEATH

When Edwin J. Carpenter, aged 98, died, at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening, Beloit's oldest citizen was called by death.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon from the Carpenter residence. The Rev. H. M. Noble of the First Presbyterian church will officiate. Interment will be in the city cemetery in Beloit.

Death came at the end of several weeks of gradual weakening in which there was no special disease. Mr. Carpenter was born in Newport township, Rock County, N. Y., Feb. 9. He was always frail in appearance and a man whose physical endurance and life span were not great. He could not live but a few years. Mr. Carpenter had a good common school education with several terms at Fairfield academy, New York. He was a great reader and a deep thinker, a conservative loyal democrat in politics.

Although a farmer by occupation, he taught school in the east for a couple of years.

He was united in marriage to Miss Emily M. Ross, Dec. 24, 1846. In August 1855 they came to Beloit with their three children. In the fall of 1857, Mr. Carpenter purchased a farm in the town of Turtle, which was then all open prairie land. With the help of friends he built his own house, for those days a spacious one. In 1862 he sold his farm and moved to Beloit, where he has since resided.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter were of the old time hospitable class, entertaining and being entertained a great deal. Mr. Carpenter had made 11 visits to his home in New York, and two trips to California.

Until within the last six months he has retained his faculties to a remarkable degree. He has been unable to read for six years because of failing sight. He is survived by five daughters and two sons. They are Mrs. Frank Noble, Lora Beach, Calif.; Miss Westley Barnard, South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. Frank Hammond, Clinton; Mrs. George Cleveland, Mrs. William Jacob, Beloit; Myron Carpenter, Salinas, Calif.; Edwin M. Carpenter, Beloit. He is survived by 10 grand children and 10 great grand children. Mrs. Carpenter passed away, Jan. 11, 1912.

PREDICTS BETTER MARKET FOR CATTLE AND HOGS

A near relief for the present low prices of cattle and hogs is predicted by B. H. Hibbard, economist at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture. "Present indications do not point in that direction," says Mr. Hibbard, "but of course one can never know what the future holds in store. The government has been unable to produce as much beef and pork possible. When the war ended the increase in consumption due to our supplying allied forces declined very greatly. People in Europe are just as hungry as before, but their wants are not well supplied. This left the farmers of the country with their increased production of livestock to dispose of on a declining market. The surplus thus created has now almost entirely disappeared, it being reported that both hogs and cattle have declined in numbers some 5 or 8 per cent as compared with the movement for the early months of the year now and in 1919. This really means that numbers have not increased during the spring of this year as much as in 1919. Prices ought to start an upward trend very soon."

Mr. Hibbard believed that the farmers have been afraid of a general slump in prices. For this reason they have been getting rid of their surplus stock. With grain as high as it is, no farmer wishes to feed more than necessary. If prices on everything else in general should go down, as there is a possibility of their doing, food prices will fall the rest of any or even stay where they are, believes Mr. Hibbard.

"The decrease in exports since the war may be seen from the export figures. The exports of beef in 1917 were 348,000,000 pounds. In 1918 they were 248,000,000 pounds. In 1919 they dropped to 229,000,000 pounds. The figures for pork show a decrease from 1,061,000,000 pounds to 926,000,000 pounds. In 1919 they were more than 1,000,000,000 pounds, or 50 per cent."

Kidnapped Child Returns After Many Years a Married Woman

Norfolk, Va.—Kidnapped when five years old, searched for all over the world, Lura Virginia Joyner comes back to her people as Mrs. W. T. Dickard. She does not remember being kidnapped.

Lura Joyner disappeared from her home in 1902. She lived with her parents at Church Hill, Dinwiddie county. She went out to play one day. She was missed by her parents only a few minutes later. When they went to search for her she had disappeared. She was searched for by the police of Petersburg, then by the police and detectives of all Virginia, and later by the detectives of all cities in America. Her picture was everywhere. She was not found, but no tidings of her were received. She was finally given up for dead, possibly as her parents concluded, having been killed and her body hidden.

Mrs. Zella E. Pickard.

Mother Died of Grief.

But Lura Joyner, now Mrs. Dickard, has just returned to her old home. Her mother is dead, died of grief. Mrs. Pickard came to the home of her sister, Mrs. P. B. DeShazo, of Blackstone, Va., a few days ago, and from the sister she learned the story of her own disappearance.

The sisters were brought together through an anonymous letter received by Chief of Police Sherry of Richmond. Mrs. Pickard said she has received a letter signed "Interested Stranger," in which she was informed that she was Lura Joyner, and if she was interested, to get in touch with Chief Sherry. She did so, with the result that she was told where her sister could be found. Then Mrs. Pickard came from her home in New York to Blackstone, where she met her sister for the first time.

Mrs. Pickard says she was brought up by a Mr. and Mrs. Earle, who traveled with a circus and made their home in New York. Mrs. Pickard lived at No. 76 Franklin street, New York.

Becomes Expert Backhand Rider.

Lura was taught to ride a horse, and developed into quite a backhand rider and a good saddle rider. She said she thought the Earles were her parents.

"I did not remember being taken from my own home," she said. "They treated me fairly well, and until eight years ago I thought I was their child. We lived in New York when we were not with a circus, and it was only by the accident of a newspaper article that I learned I was not their child."

Mrs. Pickard says that while she was with the circus she was known as "Zella Earle," and under this name she was married to W. T. Pickard, a sea-lion trainer who was with the same circus. She is now the mother of two children.

TWO ROADS

Yes, here's my road. It's not so wide as the road that runs along the side of a field, a road, a road, a road. This field, a wood, a road, a road. Gay weeds and inches deep with dust that shows the ridges, few and faint.

Behind stray wagons, loud with rust that match the crickets' lonely plaint.

Then there's another road; white, far away, all edged with splintered trees.

Where caissons grind, where shells scarp scar, and drivers curse and cannons wheeze.

No living soldiers linger there, but shrieking, white-plumed shrieking snarl, and grin-faced youths slog on to chalk-faced slouch back—or march no more.

My rail-fenced way is much the same. As when I left it long ago. Untouched by war or battle-lame. Scarred changed by sun or drifting snow.

And yet I like its drowsy spell. It's silent fast, infrequent loud. I think I love its peace so well. Because I know that other road.

As soon as wages are raised again to meet the advanced cost of living due to the increase in railroad rates, says ex-Sgt. SOL, the country will be on its feet—and ready to start over.

BIG STAKE WINNERS YESTERDAY RUN TODAY

After the performances of yesterday, the racing bugs are anxious to see what Summer Song, b. m. (Echo Todd) L. B. Randall, Chicago, is going to do today in the $1000 C. C. Clay stake for 2:15 trotters. Winning its sixth race in four weeks by outstriking the 2:10 trot, this horse looks good to repeat, but it has a harder and faster field especially with the Expression, b. m. (Exposition) Charles Elver, Madison, and Lucy Azoff, b. m. (Azoff) George Spencer, Janesville, agent in the field.

The same hold true of the $1000 J. A. Craig stake for 2:12 pacers. In this race, Starved Rock, ch. h. (Hedgewood Roy) L. B. Randall, Chicago, is entered, having taken the 2:15 pace yesterday.

RECORDS MADE AT NATIONAL GOLF MEET

Toledo, Aug. 12.—More records were set yesterday at the national open golf championship, Jack Hutchinson of Chicago, won the first prize, scoring 33 on the first nine holes of the Inverness links and 69 for the eighteen holes, two strokes better than the previous competition. He was equal to par for the 6,600 yard course, while scoring was so good that it required 157 strokes, or better to qualify for the seventy-six hole championship play beginning next Thursday. Usually thirty-six holes in 160 has afforded enough to the contest, 157 being new low figures.

No prominent tournament player was eliminated, however, and most of the amateur contestants remained in competition by comfortable margins. Some comparatively new names crept into the coveted list.

The famous links beginning "Water, water everywhere" (we have censored the rest ourselves) are to be purged from all copies of the "Ancient Mariner" taught in public schools hereafter as the Anti-Saloon League feels that the quotation in full would be prejudicial to the spirit of the Volstead Act.

TO FILM "THE PASSION FLOWER"

Justice Johnstone is to become a Realart star—the sixth. The others are Alice Brady, Mary Miles Minter, Constance Binney, and the two newest ones, Vanda Hawley and Sebe Daniels. Miss Johnstone is the unanimous choice of the jury of twelve internationally known artists, literary and professional people to whom Realart entrusted the task of picking its new star.

Miss Johnstone is of Swedish extraction and is reported as being twenty years old. She was born in Englewood, N. Y., and was educated at the Emma Willard finishing school at Troy, N. Y. She favored a dramatic career even in her childhood and took part in many plays and while at the Emma Willard school she rose to prominence as president of the dramatic society. In 1915 she was a member of the "Follies" and again in 1916. She may be remembered by many as an honor her beauty won for her. Last summer she started both the professional circles and the public by joining a stock company in Connecticut. She had planned a career in serious dramatic roles for which she thought she needed work in stock. These plans, it seems, have been abandoned and Miss Johnstone is now under contract with Realart to appear in pictures. Her first picture will be "The King of Honeysuckle," by George Scarborough, a stage hit of last year.

WAR VETS MAY GET VICTORY MEDALS NOW; 110,000 TO BE ISSUED

Miss Mattie Allen, secretary of the Rock County chapter of the American Red Cross, has received instructions relative to the application of ex-soldiers for their Victory medal.

Every man who was in the army, navy, or marines will receive a medal whether or not he saw action, or was in France.

An office has been opened in Milwaukee in the Majestic building on Grand avenue to take care of all applications. All those living in this state and the territorial of Michigan will make their application through this office. Applicants are urged to send at once, as it is hoped to have the matter cleared up within the next four months.

With the assistance of the American Legion office space has been secured and it is hoped that the "ex-buddies" will speed the work along by bringing in person or mailing, a certified copy of his discharge to that address at the earliest possible moment.

More than 110,000 of these medals will be issued within the state.

MAKE MANY FREE TESTS AT BADGER DAIRY SCHOOL

Two hundred and thirty-eight samples of cheese have been tested for fat by J. L. Sammis of the Wisconsin Dairy school in the year just past. This service is rendered dairy interests of the state free of charge.

Eighty-three cheese sent in by various makers have been judged and scored for the benefit of the public. This service is especially valuable for cheesemakers who expect to compete at the various county and state fairs.

"We will be glad to receive cheese for scoring or judging at any time," says Mr. Sammis. "Samples sent in for moisture tests will receive prompt attention."

NO PROTECTION HERE AGAINST DIRTY MILK.

At the fair there is an exhibit by the state health department where by the use of graphic charts, numerous health stories are told with clarity and emphasis. In one particularly, we are deeply interested. That has to do with the purity of the milk sold to consumers. In Janesville
there is no regulatory ordinance concerning milk sales—no inspection by the city and no way for the people to be informed constantly as to the purity of the milk. By "purity" is not meant the butter fat test, but cleanliness of the product. It is surprising how much sediment, manure and dirt generally will be disclosed in passing some of the milk through cotton. We at least should see that this is done regularly and the tests be exhibited in public.

Disgase spread by milk is only to be prevented by the greatest measure of precaution. It is hard for the producer to know unless there is a test. Beloit has recently adopted a milk ordinance that covers the ground thoroughly. Janesville has been slow in its protection of the children who are readily susceptible to the germs of disease communicated by the use of milk.

PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITY.

It may be necessary in the future to establish a moral court or an appendix to the municipal court having to do with the youth who seem to have no parental attention in Janesville. Parental responsibility seems to be woefully lacking in many instances. Otherwise it would not be possible for girls as young as 13 to be darning on the street at midnight as it is not an infrequent sight.
We are talking of building a home in Janesville for the girls who come from the outside. But there is also a responsibility here at home for the parents to keep the girls already provided with home life, off the streets when unaccompanied, and subject to all the temptations that come to them there.

If the parents cannot care for it or are so busy doing something else or looking after their own comfort, then a moral office of the police should be called on.

WILLIS A WINNER.

Former governor Frank B. Willis carried the republican primaries in Ohio for the United States senate by a large plurality over Walter Brown,
former chief of the Roosevelt forces in the state.
Willis, who by his speech at the republican national convention, aided materially in the nomination of Senator Harding, is not unknown in Wisconsin where he has spoken on numerous occasions and in many places on the prohibition question as an advocate of the eighteenth amendment.

Willis was elected governor of Ohio in 1914 by a plurality over Gov. Cox of 29,270. Cox had won two years before with a divided republican vote between the bull moose and republican regular tickets. Willis was elected in spite of the fact that the bull mooseers had a ticket and its candidate polled 60,000 votes. In 1916, when the state went for Wilson by 59,408, Cox had a plurality of only 8,416 over Willis showing something of the popularity of the man. Had the issue been Cox and Willis the republican would have swamped Cox. In 1918, when there was a contest between the two men sharply defined but largely on the wet and dry issues, Willis was defeated by 11,944.
It was hailed as a wet victory.

If elected to the senate Willis will make a place
in that body for himself as a commanding figure.

COUNTY BOARD AND THE HIGHWAYS.

It might be well for the county board to look around and see how much it is responsible for the condition of the road work in the county. It would seem that the highway commissioner passes the buck to the county legislative body whenever the finances are mentioned and as the highest priced official of the county the county board might find out what he wants and give it to him.
That seems to be the only way we will get the roads finished. The road to Edgerton is what may be termed in statu quo. There is every reason to believe that with the passage of time the snow blockade will make it impossible to complete the first lap of the road and then we can't remove the snow, so it will go over to spring. All of which a patient public refuses to believe is necessary.

EMBARGO SEEMS TO BE THE ANSWER.

Coal exports have largely increased in the fiscal year ending July 31, some five million tons more having been sent out of the country than in 1918-19. We exported 22,978,325 tons this year and got $132,000,000 for it. This was all bituminous coal and we have been crying for the same fuel here at a decent price. When coal exports were declared to be the cause of the shortage, the operators have held up their hands and stated that it was not true. It, however, seems to have been the truth. Here we are paying the price for a shortage of coal and a margin for "distress" when the export is making that condition possible.

While embargoes are uneconomic and do not favor of good business, it would seem that one is necessary in order to protect the public from the greed of the coal operator and a continuation of fictitious prices.

The Shady Side of Detroit

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 12.—The revival of Spiritualism, which has flared up so unexpectedly
since the war, finds its fullest expression in Detroit. There is probably more communication with the beyond going on here than in any other city in the country—certainly it has the greatest number of Spiritualistic societies. Their mysterious doings fill a whole column in the local newspapers. "Don't fail to hear Professor Handley's essay on the Power of Vision," reads one of these, "also spirit raps loud and distinct within the human brain.
Greatest phenomena since 1845; other surmises.
Come skeptics. Admission 25 cents, war tax included."

Another invites the public to meetings of the "Rosebud Society," which also guarantees messages and spirit raps within the human brain.
Still another is the "Sunflower Society," which welcomes visitors to its Sunday evening services, with the assurance of a lecture as well as a message for all.

There are dozens of them, all apparently modeled after the same pattern, and nearly all of them possessing women pastors. "Spiritualism is one form of religion in which women play a stellar role, since the shades of the next world seem to prefer them as mediums. Indeed, several of the societies in Detroit are inclined to think that the Creator of the Universe may be female, scouting the assumption of a masculine deity as distinctly uncertain if not actually narrow-minded."

After scanning the long list of advertisements,
we finally decided in favor of attending the services of the "Psychical Research Society," which also spoke of messages, but no raps. The meeting was to be held in the G. A. R. hall, which sounded conservative and reliable, so, accompanied by a good-natured Detroit business man, we started forth in search of the place in the hope of obtaining some lively gossip from the next world.

The hall proved to be a worn and decrepitlooking building on a street containing small,
cheap shops, and although a cardboard sign tacked crookedly on the wall announced "The Psychical Research Society" was in progress on the top floor, the place appeared quite deserted.

After looking about and listening for signs of life, we suddenly discovered a small sign in a dark corner by the elevator, which said "Three-rings for the Psychical Research Society." Accordingly, we rang the elevator bell three times, and in a moment it started slowly down the shaft, swinging perilously from side to side.

"Maybe that's due to psychic vibrations," suggested our friend, who has not been much impressed with all the recent ghostly manifestations which have been occurring throughout the country.

A small man, with a round, bald head and faded, drooping mustache, opened the door of the elevator cage, assured us that there was a psychical research society and that it had foregathered; so we began a quivering ascent to the top floor.

In a large, square room, containing a wide, central platform, rows of dingy chairs, dilapidated mural decorations left over from some remote dance, and an extraordinary lack of ventilation, were gathered the psychical researchers—an almost wholly feminine congregation. One of them was playing on a sickly piano, while the others may or may not have been "The Maiden's Prayer."
Fortunately, it was impossible to tell. The rest seems twenty-five or so, were occupying the front rows of chairs, waiting patiently for the services to begin.

"Look like factory workers," murmured our business friend, as we walked to the front and bravely seated ourselves in the first row, "and German accent. She explained that instead of hearing a lecture from her, she had the custom, to be edited by talks from various members of the society who were not, of course, trained public speakers like herself, but "who was comin' out wonderful!" To lend emphasis to this announcement one of the few males present brought a huge pitcher of ice water and set it on the small platform table, after carefully draping a square over it.

"It looks like the setting for a prestidigitator act," suggested our friend irreverently. "Keep an eye on your watch."

But two other ladies, one of them pale and emaciated, the other of ponderous girth, were on the platform. The latter, who looked a little dusty, took the center of the stage, folded one plump arm behind her in the best oratorical manner, and gave a dramatic account of the Great Spirit Lake, in which all professing Spiritualists would be washed whiter than snow.

At this juncture, however, the thin, emaciated lady raised her hopes by announcing that she was a medium. "That was the reason why she would not speak above a mild whisper," she said. "The spirits and she simply won out her vocal cords in their frenzy to communicate with this world.
Since she could not be heard from the platform,
she drank a glass of water, and then came down
among the audience to deliver the ghostly words of wisdom that she said were beginning to reverberate around her spirit solitude, was a bashful young man who looked as if he had just left some old country, and who was much embarrassed at being singled out. The spirit of an old man was present, the medium said; she did not know who he was, as he had some reason for being very careful of his name, but he wanted John to be very careful of everything would come out all right, but in the meantime, John was to watch his step."

The next was a young girl, also a foreigner.
"You are thinking of leaving Detroit, aren't you?"
inquired the medium. "No? Well, you have thought of leaving—ah, I thought so. There is a spirit here, and he is cutting her face, but she says it would be a bad thing for you to leave the city right now, and on no account are you to go before September."

This was practically the gist of all the spirit messages. Against everyone in the audience, with the exception of ourselves, whom the visiting shades carefully ignored, was warned to be cautious about something and invariably August, probably because it was most imminent, was the fatal month. A few were told that their husbands or wives or uncles or cousins were waiting for them to join them on the other side, where everything was serene and beautiful. Once, the impartial Bright Eyes drifted into conversation, and occasionally the medium was seized with a headache or a choking sensation which had great effect on the audience in identifying the spirits.
Two ladies in the congregation nearly came to blows over a spirit who was supposed to be Jane, each claiming that it was a relative of hers, but the medium quickly restored order by banishing this particular shade and producing another one.

After that the audience was brought sharply back to this mundane scene by the announcement of the fact that the expenses of the society were heavy, and that the collection plate was about to be passed.

Midgones of mixed pickles whiskey, fell over on the deck of his staunch ship and later it was discovered he was stone blind and would continue so for the rest of his life. "Here's looking at you," will never be said by him again. We suggest that this fact be used as an argument against the prohibition law.

Wisconsin is perhaps the only state in the union where one does not have to support either the ticket or the platform to be a republican.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

VACATION THOUGHTS.

Away from the grind of the city,
Away from the noise and the din,
Away from its glare and its din,
Away from its shame and its sin—

Out where the blue sky is bending
Its glorious arch over our heads,
Whether I rise or I fall—
Or whether I rise or I fall—

Here for a few days with never
A task I must struggle to do,
Away from the constant endeavor
And the praise and the blame of it, too—

Just being myself for a minute,
With freedom to think and to plan,
The comrade of lark and of linnet
And trees—and the least of them, man.

Here with the great world about me,
With life in large parcels or small,
That can and will live on without me,
And the same power has fashioned us all!

This kindly old tree shall outlive me,
The lake shall remain as I'm gone,
Oh, God, how I long to be free,
For what is my pride founded on?

And what is the noise of the city,
And what is its struggle for gold,
With its shame and its grief and its pity?
No more than a tale that is told.
For the things which shall live on forever
Are not of such struggles as these,
Not the fragments of human endeavor,
But sky, sun and rivers and trees.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Here is a striking letter from a little girl, at once a strong appeal to mothers and daughters:
"My Dear Doctor Brady: Will you please, through your most valuable column, urge mothers to tell their children about human reproduction, etc. Some mothers say they don't know how to get about telling it. Isn't it better for them to tell their children about it than to have their children hear it from some nasty, vulgar girl in school, who tells untruths about one of the most sacred things?"
"For this is the case with a girl at school. A girl friend of mine has been told by several girls in her class at school some of the most disgusting and things that go along with such 'jokes.' I call them vulgar speeches. Don't think that all girls are like that, for they aren't. I went all through grammar school and never heard such things from any of the girls. Last year my biology teacher at high school gave her pupils lectures on human reproduction. But high school is too late for some girls, for they already have their vulgar views which are hard to change. So mothers should tell their children. It makes me sick to hear of such things. Please don't publish this letter. I am 15 years old and I live in New York City."

I prevailed upon this little lady to give me permission to publish her letter, with certain possible marks of identification omitted.
The University of Chicago Public Health Service found that the average age at which boys pick up their first distorted and uncleanly information concerning human anatomy is 9 years, whereas the average age at which boys are offered clean and truthful information on the subject is 15 years—seven years too late.
I don't know how it is with girls, but perhaps there is not much difference. This very illuminating letter from a girl in the high school is a conservative. The matter might be presented much more forcibly without oversteating the truth. I hope it may make a million fathers, too. However, it is up to mother to attend to daughter's education while she is responsible for the instruction of son.

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederick H. Friskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette, Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q.—How much will the increase in freight rates add to a pound of meat?
A.—Easing computations on a thousand-mile haul of feed to stock, stock to stockyard, and stockyard to consumer, the freight increase will add less than one cent to the cost of a pound of meat.

Q.—What is the present population of Hawaii?
A.—The Census Bureau says that the population of the island of Hawaii is 755,012, an increase of 64,003; and that the city of Honolulu has a population of 59,327, an increase of 11,474.

Q.—Where does the Jefferson Highway start and end?
A.—This highway is 1,600 miles long and extends from Winnipeg, Canada, through St. Paul, Des Moines, Kansas City, and Joplin to New Orleans.

Q.—How many times has Samuel Gompers been elected president of the American Federation of Labor?
A.—He has been elected five times and how many times has he held that office? T. E. L.

A. Samuel Gompers has held his office 33 years, and has been elected 32 times in 1887. He only held it 40 years he was not elected to office—John McBride being elected that year.

Q.—Are blackberries classed as annuals or perennials?
A.—Blackberry bushes are perennial plants, since it is not necessary to plant them each year.

Q.—How can I secure a gloss on whitewash?
A.—A pound of cheap bar soap dissolved in a gallon of boiling water and added to about five gallons of thick whitewash will impart a gloss like that of paint.

Q.—Give a description of the Ingis-Fatous.
A.—The Ingis-Fatous is a pale-bush flame which appears after sunset floating about two or three miles above the horizon. Sometimes remaining fixed and sometimes traveling. Some authorities think it is due to the presence of phosphorus in the atmosphere, and others to the combustion of methane. It is seen most frequently in northern Germany, in the swamps and meadow districts of northern England, and in the lowlands of Scotland.

Q.—Does the procedure for naturalization differ in the various states of the union?
A.—No. The procedure is the same in every state. The naturalization laws are of national, not state origin.

Q.—What is the meaning of the old saying "Beware of the Greeks when they offer you gifts?"
A.—The original "I fear the Greeks bearing gifts" appears in Vergil's "Aeneid." The reference is to the siege of Troy. The Greeks besieged the city of Troy without success. Finally they resorted to strategy, offering a huge wooden horse to the Trojans as a gift. The horse was taken into the city and while the Trojans slept, the warriors, with torches and spears, entered the city through the gates for their Greek comrades. The conclusion is that one should fear an enemy when he seems friendly.

Q.—One word of land where the notary public signs his name and under it writes "Commission expires Dec. 31, 1922," does the owner of the deed have to renew the commission?
A.—No. The commission is valid for one year from the date of its issue. The owner does not have to renew it.

Q.—What is a sundog?
A.—A sundog is a specific name given to a form of halo, and is an optical phenomenon produced when the light of the sun shines through a delicate or layer of fog or mist.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, AUGUST 12, 1920.

Jupiter rules this day with kindly intent, according to astrology. Neptune is strongly adverse.

It is a time of plans and large ventures in business, but the judgment day may not be trustworthy, owing to the aspect of Neptune.

Lawyers come under a heavy sky that seems to promise unusual benefits and honors.

Educators should profit by conditions that are now developing. Teachers declare that great honors are to be bestowed on teachers whose profession will gain a new status and increased rewards.

There is a sign held to be favorable for political candidates who may gain favor at this time by casting away fear and assuming positive attitudes on public questions.

Neptune in an aspect said to increase the tendency of the human mind toward suspicion. During this time evil will be more readily heard than good.

All the signs appear to presage agitation and disturbance of thought that has hitherto been confined to conservative channels.

Women are to take a new place in faculties of universities and schools of technology, if the stars are rightly interpreted.

Immense fortunes are to be gained within the next few years by means of small inventions that will contribute to the comfort of the home, the seers declare.

The death of a statesman long revered is prognosticated for next month.

Planetary forces that are separative and inimical to the best interests of humanity will continue powerful for some time, but they are to be overcome by a cohesive influence which will unite all classes in a close bond of union.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid new enterprises and be cautious about entrance to a quarrel. Young women will be much comforted.

Children born on this day may have many ups and downs in life. They will succeed best when employed in those subjects usually in order and are exceedingly peaceable.

Summer Song Wins Sixth Straight Race in Four Weeks

By George McManus.

Driving of Dean Jr. Is Feature of Big Program; Local Horses in Second

Speeding under the wire a winner in three straight heats in the $1,000 F. W. Hohensee 2:20 trot in the second day of the Wisconsin Grand circuit races at the fair grounds here yesterday, Summer Song, Dean Jr. up, won its sixth race in four weeks. The remarkable work of the horse can be laid largely to the wonderful driving of Dean.

Young Dean also took first in the 2:18 pace driving Starved Rock to victory in three straight heats. Thus the Randall stable of Chicago is also annexing second money in the 3-year old trot with Belle McKenzie got the biggest haul of the day.

Over 3,000 people saw the big card of four races yesterday. The grandstand was jammed to overflowing with sweltering thousands while others lined the track near the judges' tower. Exciting finishes featured each heat, keeping the crowd of spectators on their feet yelling for their favorites.

Janesville horses came in on the money in two of the races. However, they could do no better than second. Broncho Queen driven by George Spencer took second place in the $1,000 2:20 trot, but lost to Starved Rock, Dean Jr. up. But the driver of the horse was too fast, getting a head start in each of the three heats.

Nellie Lightfoot Second
Nellie Lightfoot, another local favorite, took second in the heats of the 2:20 trot. Efforts to displace Summer Song in this event were fruitless.

Against a field of 10, Dean exhibited some grand driving in swinging Summer Song into first in the 2:20. All the tricks of the track were used against him by the other drivers. Many fans were made to pocket their money in this heat, but Summer Song was too fast for the other drivers.

Dean Jr. driving Belle McKenzie, annexed second money in the $500 trot. Cracker three-year old trot. This race was won by Capt. Eugene (Owen) in straight heats.

Omaha Horse Show Money
Omaha, Neb. horses came in for a good share of the money, taking two firsts and two thirds. Capt. Eugene got one of the firsts. Reeves got the other in the 2:10 trot driving home Luana, the 2:20 trot. Owen drove Tip Prince under the wire in the 2:10 trot, making a pretty third money. He also got third in the $500 2:10 trot with Grace Corning.

There was nothing to the 2:10 trot. Luana (Reeves) was away with great ease for head of the string in each heat. The race was run in straight heats.

Summary:
2:10 trot, one mile, three heats. Summer Song, Dean Jr. up, won. $1,000.
2:20 trot, one mile, three heats. Starved Rock, Dean Jr. up, won. $1,000.
2:10 trot, one mile, three heats. Belle McKenzie, Dean Jr. up, won. $500.
2:10 trot, one mile, three heats. Nellie Lightfoot, Dean Jr. up, won. $500.

Bowling Rule Changes Give Local Officials More Power

With the fall drawing close, bowlers of Janesville are commencing to think of the long nights of the winter months and a renewal on larger basis of the league play of last year through a greater revival of the City Bowling association. To this end a meeting of the association will be held toward the end of the present month, according to an announcement made today by E. C. Baumann, secretary.

At this gathering, the changes in the national rules will be read. They are made to replace the sport of ten pins on a firmer basis than ever.

Bigger 1920-21 Season
Every effort will be made to create an even bigger interest in bowling this year in Janesville than last year, which turned out to be the most successful season ever seen here.

In brief, the changes in the rules are:
Scores of three-men leagues will now be recognized as well as five-men leagues and starting with the beginning of this season, team scores when made in league competition of both three- and five-men teams on certified alleys in sanctioned leagues will be recognized and medals awarded for the high, second, high and third high scores. This is expected to boost smaller leagues.

Employees of alleys where leagues are included in individual prize competition and division of prize money (bowling) desire to include them in their by-laws. This rule must be written in local laws before the season opens to permit alley employees to so participate.

Rule on Local Disputes
To make rulings on local disputes without having to go to the American Bowling congress, officials and clubs are to be empowered to render, rule 5 of the national book is changed as follows:

The recommendation is that each league or tournament association have a "managing committee" or "board of directors" which shall have the authority to hear and shall have the power to make and enforce rules for the league or tournament, based on violation of its members, based on violation of rules by members of their own league.

WINANS DEAD Famous American Harness Racer Dies While Racing Behind Henrietta Guy

London, Aug. 12.—Walter Winans, widely known American resident of London, collapsed and died while driving his horse, Henrietta Guy, in a race at Purloes Park this afternoon.

Mr. Winans called out for his horse to be stopped, but before this could be done he fell off the sulky. He was dead when picked up.

Officials Rule John Out of 2:25 Money
Horse John, which fell in the first heat of the 2:25 pace on Tuesday and then went back and paced in the second and third heats finishing in second place, was ruled out of the money yesterday by the judges. In making their decision, the officials admitted that they made an error in permitting the Milwaukee horse to run after it once had withdrawn, but that nevertheless second money was taken by Halley Direct, and driven by John Soutman, Janesville, and driven by George Spencer. By this decision, Floyd Direct, owned and driven by A. J. Mitchell, Elkhorn, gets third and Denbow (Johnson) fourth.

Here is a case where the producer may increase his returns without raising the price to the consumer, says Mr. Klinka. "Any group of creameries can take advantage of the carload rate if they will ship butter to one firm. We have found the notify the creameries to whom the butter belonged and to pro rate the freight, icing, and stop over charges so that the creameries get their checks the usual way."
